REMOVED FROM PRISON FARM

Fate of Leo M. Frank at Present Unknown.

PARTY OVERPOWERS GUARDS

Twenty-five Armed Men Handcuff Georgia Warden and His Aides, Enter Prison Farm and Carry Away Man Serving Life Term for Murder.

Augusta, Ga., Aug. 17.—Sheriff's posses have been ordered out in all counties surrounding Baldwin county, in which Milledgeville is located, in an effort to find Frank and the party which took him.

Milledgeville, Ga., Aug. 17.—Leo M. Frank, Georgia's noted life term convict, was removed from the Georgia prison farm here by twenty-five armed men, who overpowered Warden Smith.

Previous to the attack wires leading to the prison itself had been cut. Frank was placed in an automobile and rushed in the direction of Eatonton.

It has not been ascertained whether Frank was lynched or whether the party that removed him from the prison were his friends.

The attack was shortly before midnight. The warden and most of the guards were sleeping on a rear porch of the main building in which the prisoners are confined. Both he and the guards were handcuffed, after which the party entered the prison and removed Frank.

CARRANZA MAY NOT YIELD

Mexican Leader Thinks He Can Restore Order.

Washington, Aug. 17.—General Carranza's representatives in Washington expect him to send an unyielding response to the Pan-American appeal addressed to military and civil leaders of Mexico urging them to join in a peace conference for the restoration of constitutional government. They think he will adhere to the position he took at the time of the Niagara Falls mediation conference last summer, maintaining that intervention by other nations in their affairs is unwelcome to the Mexican people.

According to some of his friends Carranza in his reply will assert that peace already has been established throughout most of Mexico by his own armies; that the government of which he is the head is constitutional and in full control of the territory in which order has been restored and that upon transferring his capital from Vera Cruz to Mexico City within a few weeks he will agree to confer with all revolting factions.

AMERICAN TROOPER IS SLAIN

Raiding Mexicans Attack Small Cavalry Outpost.

Brownsville, Tex., Aug. 17.—Armed Mexicans in force crossed the Rio Grande at a ford near Mercedes, attacking an outpost of half a dozen cavalrymen at Saenz.

Ranger Lieutenant Reynau, at Mercedes, telephoned Adjutant General Hutchins here that Corporal Wilman of Troop C, Twelfth Cavalry, was killed in this fight and Lieutenant Roy O. Henry of the same troop and a trooper wounded.

FIVE KILLED BY EXPLOSION

Gelatine House of Powder Plant Is Demolished.

Emporium, Pa., Aug. 17.—Five men were killed and the gelatine house of the Aetna Explosive company's plant at Grove Run, near here, was destroyed by an explosion. Two other buildings were damaged and the entire countryside shaken. The men were the only employees in the building when the explosion occurred.

DANIELS TO REVIEW FLEET

Secretary of Navy to Assist at Spectacle for Governors.

Boston, Aug. 17.—An assurance from Secretary of the Navy Daniels that he would be in Boston on Aug. 25 and review the battleship fleet off Boston light with the state executives in attendance upon the conference of governors was received by Governor Walsh.

Where Business Men Prepare for War, and Sponsor of Camp

General view of the camp at Plattsburg, N. Y.

The business men's camp at Plattsburg, N. Y., which is under the general command of General Leonard Wood of the United States army, who stood sponsor for it, and Captain Halstead Dorsey of the United States Army who is in command on the ground, will prove to be very successful, according to the promoters. Business and professional men, preferably those over thirty years of age, have been invited from all parts of the nation to spend a month or less in learning the elements of warfare. General Wood believes that a large number of men of the first intelligence should be so trained that could be quickly turned into officers should this country be suddenly called into a war.

Many well known men have already gone to the camp for instruction.

General Leonard Wood, sponsor

Mayor John Purroy Mitchel of New York was among the first. Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., was another. Dr. Richard Derby, son-in-law of former President Roosevelt, was a third. A. J. Drexel Biddle of Philadelphia was another, while William J. Clothier, the former champion tennis player, hurried to the camp.

Cities farther west than Chicago have furnished recruits. The cost for the thirty days is about $60, not taking into consideration transportation and personal expenses. The cost for the thirty days is about $60, not expenses of food, etc., and the equipment of clothing costs about the same sum.

LONDON PAPERS JUBILANT

Comment Gleeefully on American Note to Austria.

London, Aug. 17.—The American reply to Austria's protest against the shipment of munitions to the allies has pleased the London press. "Nothing could be more effective," says the London Daily Mail, "than the courteous and crisp reminder that Austria herself not more than fifteen years ago was engaging with a clear conscience in the very traffic that under changed circumstances so distresses her."

"President Wilson now has made a reply that leaves nothing more to be said," is the comment of the Graphic, which suggests that Austria's "almost lachrymose complaint" should have been addressed to Admiral von Tiritz, who failed to keep the German overseas routes open, as the right of neutrals to supply munitions has been consistently recognized by international law.

BOLD BANDIT ROBS HOME OF SHERIFF

Canton, S. D., Aug. 17.—An unusually bold bandit, who evidently enjoys playing pranks with officers of the law, entered the home of Sheriff Kundert here and carried away the loose change from the sheriff's home treasury, amounting to about $12.

LEO M. FRANK IS KIDNAPED BODY RIDDLED WITH BULLETS

(By United Press)

Milledgeville, Ga., August 16.—A mob variously estimated at between 25 and 75 in number overpowered the warden, superintendent and guards at the Georgia state prison farm near here at 11 o'clock tonight and quickly got Leo M. Frank and rushed him away in an automobile.

First reports that it might be friends of Frank were dispelled when a prisoner said he had heard a member of the mob say that Frank's body would be placed tomorrow on the grave of Mary Phagan at Marietta. Frank was serving a life term for the murder of the girl.

Previous to the attack wires leading to the prison itself had been cut. Frank was placed in an automobile and rushed in the direction of Eatonton.

The warden and most of the guards were sleeping on a rear porch of the main building in which the prisoners are confined. Both he and the guards were handcuffed, after which the party entered the prison and removed Frank.

FOUND NEAR LITTLE RIVER

Atlanta, Aug. 17.—Leo Frank was lynched at Marietta, his body being found there with several bullet holes in it. He had been dead several hours, indicating he had been lynched before dawn. His body was found a few miles from Little River. Farmer James Jackson previously reported this morning that he had heard men rush past his house, and later he heard a hundred shots, and empty cartridge shells were picked up this morning near Jackson's home. This was evidently the men who kidnaped Frank from the penitentiary cell last night headed direct for the home of little Mary Phagan.

HANGED NEAR PHAGAN HOME

Marietta, Ga., Aug. 17.—Leo M. Frank was lynched two miles outside this city, near the home of Mary Phagan, the little girl for whose murder he was convicted. It is learned that not a single armed guard at the prison farm raised a hand to save Frank. His body was found dangling from a tree. The lynching occurred over a hundred miles from the prison farm. It is not doubted that the mob came from here. Several automobiles with loads of men left here last night.

BODY DANGLES FROM TREE

Marietta, Aug. 17.—Coroner Block, of Cobb county, in which Frank's body was found, refused to permit the body to be removed from the tree and it is still hanging there.

FRANK'S MOTHER SPEAKS

New York, Aug. 17.—"Thank God, he's dead and through his troubles," said Frank's mother this morning. "A life torture might have killed him in a worse way."

SLAYTON CONDEMNS ACT

San Francisco, Aug. 17.—Ex-Governor Slayton was unable to find sufficiently strong words to condemn Frank's lynching.

REVULSION OF FEELING

Atlanta, Aug. 17.—There has been a revulsion of feeling in the Frank case. The feeling here is strong in opposition to the lynching.

TEXT OF NOTE TO GERMANY

(By United Press)

Washington, Aug. 17.—The state department has published the text of the note to Germany in regard to the schooner Frye and German sea raiders. The note agrees that each government designate an expert to fix the amount of indemnity for each vessel, but such concessions do not waive the United States contention that the sinking of the Frye was unjustified.

THOUSAND LIVES LOST

(By United Press)

London, Aug. 17.—An official statement says a thousand lives were lost when the British transport, Royal-Edward, believed to be a former Canadian liner, was submarined and sunk in the Aegean sea, on Saturday while enroute to the Dardanelles. The vessel carried 1350 soldiers, 32 officers and 220 in the crew. The admiral says 600 were saved.

Peking, Aug. 17.—The project of proclaiming himself emperor is being discussed by Yuan Shi Kai, president of the Chinese republic, with his immediate supporters and Professor Frank Johnson Goodnow of Johns Hopkins university, legal adviser to the Chinese government, who is spending the summer in Peking.

Professor Goodnow, who obtained the confidence of Yuan Shi Kai by advice given during former critical times, has been consulted on this question since his arrival here a month ago and it is learned he approves the project.

Paris, Aug. 17.—The government, upon the suggestion of Minister of Finance Ribot, will issue a decree within two or three days placing on sale at postoffices national defense bonds of denominations of twenty francs and five francs, bearing interest at 5 per cent. GALVESTON IN GRAVE DANGER

Terrific Gale Is Raging on Gulf of Mexico.

COMMUNICATION IS CUT OFF

Several Vessels Are Reported to Have Been Blown Over in the Harbor—No Casualties Are So Far Reported, but the Damage to Property Is Said to Be Enormous.

Houston, Tex., Aug. 17.—Fears that the terrific West Indian hurricane, which passed through the Yucatan channels Sunday, would spell a repetition at Galveston of the flood disaster of Sept. 8, 1900, were entertained here when all communication with the gulf city was severed by a gale with a velocity ranging from sixty-five to seventy-three miles.

The storm is reported to be increasing steadily in intensity and apparently there was no indication of a lull.

The Southern Pacific railroad sent a train out in an effort to reach Galveston. The Galveston causeway still was standing, but the force of the wind was such that it was almost impossible to get across and the last interurban car took nearly an hour to make the trip because of the high wind.

The army wireless station at Brownsville received a report from the transport Buford at Galveston that the water had risen ten feet and that several vessels had turned over in the harbor there. It was not stated whether there was loss of life. No casualties have been reported, but the damage to property was estimated to be hundreds of thousands of dollars.

BRITAIN MAY SELL BONDS

Considering Plan to Relieve Low Rate of Exchange.

London, Aug. 17.—An effort is being made in important financial quarters to have the government issue a large amount of short term high rate bonds, to be placed on the American market as a means of relieving the present low rate of British exchange. The exchange rate continued downward, at one time touching the lowest known record, $4.67½. This caused unusual activity in the exchange houses on Corn Hill.

George Clare, head of a leading exchange house, pointed out that the remedy found in selling American securities held here had been practically exhausted. He estimated that these sales had reached £4,000,000 ($20,000,000) weekly for some time and had aggregated about £100,000,000 ($500,000,000) which was about all the relief feasible from that source.

The Bank of England announced that £1,800,000 ($9,000,000) in foreign coin, was allowed to go out, which is taken as an indication that the government is willing to allow gold to go out as a means of meeting accruing balances.

CHARGES STIR WASHINGTON

Prominent German Diplomat May Be Forced to Leave

Washington, Aug. 17.—Administration officials are keenly interested in charges and disclosures which have been appearing in certain newspapers in regard to alleged activities of German diplomatic and secret service agents in the United States.

While no high official would express any opinion as to whether the facts thus far disclosed would warrant action by the United States government there is a strong possibility that a prominent German diplomat will soon be forced to leave this country.

The pacific policy of the administration has caused it thus far to close its eyes to offensive German activities, but the strength of the charges being made, it is generally believed, will force the United States to act.

The outstanding features of the charges is the assertion that German agents have fomented strikes in domestic establishments manufacturing munitions of war by conniving with disloyal labor leaders and were behind plots to destroy such plants.

Meals on a Man-of-war.

All food served on board a man-of-war is carefully inspected and prepared
under the close supervision of the commissary officer. Here is a typical Sunday bill of fare:

Breakfast.—Baked pork and beans,
bread, butter, coffee.

Dinner.—Roast veal or roast beef and gravy, stewed tomatoes, mashed potatoes, bread, butter, coffee.

Supper.—Bologna sausage, cheese, potato salad, bread, butter, tea.

The menus of every ship are forwarded to the flagship every week so that the admiral may observe whether the men are being supplied with the proper food.—New York World.

Mamma's Swell Blowout.

"Mamma give a swell dinner the other day," little Jacky was telling Uncle Bob, who had dropped in to pay his sister a short visit.

"What sort of a dinner was it, Jacky?" Uncle Bob asked, looking up admiringly toward Jacky's mother.

"One of mamma's real swell course dinners?"
"I dunno," said little Jacky reclectively. "Uncle Bob, they kept bringing it in for over an hour, and there was a little recess in between every time you eat suppin'."—Exchange.

SUBMARINE SHELLS
THREE COAST TOWNS

Several Fires Result, but No
One Is Injured.

London, Aug. 17.—Parton, Harrington and White Haven, in Cumberland, Eng., on the Irish sea, were bombarded
by a German submarine, a British official statement announced.

Some fires were caused, but the damage was slight and there were no casualties, the statement adds. The text of the statement follows:

"A German submarine fired several shells at Parton, Harrington and White Haven, in Cumberland county,
but no material damage was caused.

"A few shells hit the railway embankment north of Parton, but train service was delayed only slightly.

"Fires were caused at White Haven
and at Harrington, which were soon extinguished.

"No casualties were reported."

White Haven, which lies near the entrance of Solway Firth, has a population of about 20,000. Harrington is a small town five miles north of White Haven; its population being about 4,000. Parton is another small seaport town a mile and a half from White Haven.

Clever Hen.

One of England's sporting peers is the Earl of Norwich, and they tell a story about an answer which his lordship once gave to some one who had chafed him about some of his hunting yarns.

"Yes," he replied, with a smile. "I admit that some of them were rather tall yarns. I outdid the wandering hen. A hen, you know, set out to see the world and met a crow in a distant wood.

"But," said the crow, 'are you not afraid, without good wings, of losing your way in all this tangle?'

"Afraid? Not I!" replied the hen.
'Every yard or two I lay an egg to guide myself back by.'—London Globe.

Ho Stood.

It happened in a crowded Market street car one evening recently. A gallant passenger shifted his bundles, arose, pretended to take off his hat and said to an equally if not more burdened female standee, "Won't you take my seat, madam?"

"Oh, thank you so much!" cried the lady. "I'll take the seat with pleasure,
but I don't want you to stand up."

"Gee, lady," he grinned, blushing.
'I'd like to accommodate you in both ways, but what would the people think if you was to sit in my lap?'—San Francisco Argonaut.

Russia's Merchant Flag.

The Russian merchant flag is a horizontal tricolor of white, blue and red.
Originally it was the Dutch flag, and its appearance so pleased Peter the Great that he took it with him from Amsterdam and hoisted it upside down.
His plan to distinguish it from the Dutch banner met with much criticism,
however, as the flag in an inverted position denoted a flag of distress, and eventually the stripes had to be rearranged before Russia adopted it as a national emblem.

Inconsiderate.

She—I think Mrs. Binks is one of the most tactless and objectionable women
I ever met. Lie—Why do you say that?
She—Why, at the club this afternoon I had just started to tell one of the smart things our Willie had said, when she told the same story and ascribed it to her horrid little Johnny.—Richmond Times-Dispatch.

A BAD CURE.

Be careful about the means you use to cure an evil. Wise men minge mirth with their cares, as a help to forget or overcome them,
but to resort to intoxication for the case of one's mind is to cure melancholy with madness.—Charron.

MEANING OF "JITNEY."

There Are Many Theories as to the Origin of the Word.

The meaning of the word jitney is a five cent piece. The origin of the word rests wholly on supposition, and many explanations are given. One interested in the subject gathered the following information: A correspondent from Soda Creek, B. C., said he knew the term as slang in Glasgow, Scotland, over fifty years ago. It was used to designate something small or insignificant. The word was said to come from the Scottish "jitty," which means deception, and the French "nisey," correctly "niais," meaning a dunny or simpleton.

Another correspondent said it is a foreign word which originated in Russia as the name of a small Russian coin. A Russian scholar, however, declares there is no such coin and that the word in Russian means "rye."

A correspondent from Tacoma, Wash., says the word "jit," meaning a five cent piece, can be traced back a hundred years and was the original word used by slave traders for that coin.

An Oakland, Cal., correspondent said that jitney is a word coined by the southern negroes. There the small boy when told to run an errand says, "Do I get a jitney, boss?"

A Los Angeles man says that the term is Mexican vernacular for nickel.

WOMAN'S REALM

IT'S HERE KIDS
CIRCUS IN TOWN

Three Long Trains of Yellow Cars of Hagenbeck-Wallace Circus Arrive in Brainerd

CIRCUS LOT EAST OF TOWN

Steam Stake Driver Sets up 14 Acres of Tents, Shows Afternoon and Evening

It's here kids, the circus!
Long live the circus, peanuts and lemonade.

Three long trains of yellow cars,
loaded to the guards with circus paraphernalia and equipment of the Carl Hagenbeck-Wallace circus reached Brainerd during the wee small hours
this morning. In spite of the early arrival of the circus there was a good sized reception committee on hand to welcome the showmen. Some were there who declared that they hadn't missed seeing a circus "come in" in 20 years.

At daylight the work of unloading the trains began. The heavy red and yellow baggage wagons were rolled
from the flat cars and hauled briskly
to the fair grounds. On the circus
"lot" the wagons containing the great steel cooking ranges were located conveniently and soon a small army of cooks, chefs and waiters were busy preparing breakfast. Jimmy Davis, who has charge of the culinary department said that nearly 1000
circus followers were fed between 7 and 9 o'clock.

A steam stake driver fairly brist-
led the ground with stakes for the 22
tents which covered a range of 24
acres. The Carl Hagenbeck menagerie tent was erected following the hotel tents that the rare and costly wild animals could be protected from any possible inclement weather. The barber shop, library, office, blacksmith, harness and carpenter tents were elevated later. The huge arena tent, the largest ever used by the Hagenbeck-Wallace circus (540 feet in length) was ready at 10 o'clock.

Within the space of three hours
after the arrival of the first baggage wagon on the grounds the once barren lot was transferred into a little city which lacked only a town council and state charter. There was a lawyer, an Uncle Sam mail man, a physician, a minister of the gospel,
the Rev. Cadesmas Pope, D. D., together with carpenters, blacksmiths,
and all other artisans found in the average small city.

With breakfast over preparations
were begun for the immense street pageant. It left the circus grounds shortly after 10 o'clock and traversed
the principal downtown business streets while thousands lined the streets, curbing and crowded office windows. What they saw was not disappointing. There were three herds of elephants with native riders, scores of the dens and cages were opened to the public. The gold leaf
on the allegorical floats and tableau wagons glistened in the bright sunshine of a typical circus day weather.
There were eight bands of music
along with two immense steam calli-opes. Upwards of 1,000 men, women and horses participated in the parade

which was one of the biggest and best ever seen here.

Following the parade the circus
grounds became the objective point.
The side shows did an immense business. There was our old friend the wild man and all the freaks and curiosities and monstrosities garnered
from the four corners of the earth.
The showmen told in glowing terms of the merits to be found just inside
the tents. The band just outside, thumped a popular air and the crowd
hesitated no longer.

The doors of the Carl Hagenbeck menagerie were opened shortly after one o'clock. An hour was allotted for the inspection of the Carl Hagenbeck zoo, recognized as one of the biggest and best in the world. The big show began shortly after 2 o'clock
when nearly 400 performers filed into the six arenas.

Another performance will be given by the Hagenbeck-Wallace circus tonight. The doors will be opened at 7 o'clock and the performance will begin an hour later. An operatic concert by Prof. R. C. Jack's military band of 42 soloists will precede the regular performance by 30 minutes.

A downtown ticket agency is in operation today at the H. P. Dunn Drug Company.

The circus will depart shortly after midnight for Little Falls where two performances will be given tomorrow.

Why the Owl is Wise.

"As wise as an owl," my father said
One day while talking to Uncle Ted.

Now I've thought and thought about that speech,
And every time I hear one screech

I say to myself, "As wise as an owl,"
And wish that I at night might howl

So I could learn to be as wise
And see as much with my wise eyes.

You know the owl can see at night;
They say he has such wondrous sight.

So he must know each elf that roams
And witches, kelpies, goblins, gnomes.

And that is why the grownups say,
"As wise as an owl"—'tis as plain as day.

Back After Adventures in the Philippines

Mrs. Thomas B. McClintic

Mrs. Thomas B. McClintic, widow of Dr. T. B. McClintic, the United States Public Health Service official who lost his life during an epidemic of spotted fever in Montana a few years ago, where he went to combat the epidemic and himself fell victim to it, has just arrived in San Francisco from the Philippines, where she went soon after her husband's death
to visit her brother, who is president of a bank there.

The tragedy of her husband's death
a few months after their marriage sent Mrs. McClintic to the far east in endeavor to forget it. With her went their small daughter, Miss Thomasia, who was born after her father's death. Mrs. McClintic in telling of her experiences upon her arrival in San Francisco said that she visited some of the wildest and most inaccessible places on the islands and that many of her trips were made on mule back through some of the smaller islands where there are no white settlements. She saw some of the most primitive natives at close range and though she was repeatedly warned that she was going into danger she was not molested and never got into serious difficulties.

WORLD'S FASHION NEWS

Skirts to be Full and Short—Skirts are Short, Half Length and Three-Quarters

From the first opening of the authoritative couturiers we can glean certain characteristics which appear to prevail in all the collections.

The skirts are full and short. Just how short the American woman will eventually decide to wear them is still a mooted question, but the French houses are showing them really short.
In the strictly tailored suits, the skirt's don't measure more than three yards to five yards around the bottom, a width to give perfect comfort in walking and yet not wide enough to add weight to the skirt.
The skirts for the dressy afternoon and evening costumes are wider, at least five yards, and more often seven. And on these dressy costumes
we catch sight of the panther drap-ings and not infrequently real hoops
are used to give the desired bouffant effect.

Coats are short, half length and three-quarter, but no matter what the length may be, they fasten high and close at the throat. The majority have high fur collars or the muffler collar of fur, for fur is used with a lavish hand in the trimming of both gowns and coats. Practically all of these garments button from the neck
line to the bottom edge, though Bernhard show some diagonal buttoning
by way of variety.

The three-piece, or more correctly
speaking, two-piece, consisting of coat and dress, costumes show many redingote coats, tight at the waist and flaring in the skirt section. The well defined, small waist, is a feature of the new models, a fad which cannot be disputed. Whether some of the couturiers devoted to the straight line and owl waist will fall
in line is still a matter of speculation
because their openings have not yet taken place, but those who have already exhibited, feature the small waist.

Velvet and pile fabrics occupied
the first place and for the dressy
afternoon costumes grosgrains,
moires, and faille, with the metallic
silks as the favorite for the evening creations. Metallic silks combined with velvet and fur are worked into the handsomest of the evening wraps.
One of Chicago's leading couturiers
makes these evening wraps short,
reaching scarcely to the ankles and permits about four yards of width at the bottom.—From H. W. Gossard

Heart to Heart
Talks

By CHARLES N. LURIE

THE GREATEST GOOD.

Just what is the highest good to which man may attain has been the subject of speculation by philosophers and others for many centuries. Some say the pursuit of knowledge; others
call the exercise of benevolence toward others the most desirable object.

Here is what Arthur Schopenhauer,
the German philosopher, wrote:
"With health, everything is a source
of pleasure; without it, nothing else,
whatever it may be, is enjoyable; even
the other personal blessings—a great mind, a happy temperament—are degraded and dwarfed for want of it. It follows from all this that the greatest of follies is to sacrifice health for any other kind of happiness, whatever it may be, for gain, advancement, learning or fame. Everything else should rather be postponed to it."

In other words—
Unless we have bodily health we have nothing. Man's first duty is to be a healthy animal. It must be his first consideration. The mind and soul cannot be comfortable in a body that is ill at ease.

In its essence this reasoning of Schopenhauer concerning health seems to be a negation of some of his other teachings. He is known to students as "the great pessimist," for he taught that pleasure is merely negative, being nothing but the relief arising from the temporary cessation of our pain and desires. In his works he dwells on the miseries of life and upon the aimless striving and irrationality that are everywhere manifested.

But he also teaches that relief from the oppression of life may be found in the contemplation of works of art and in listening to music. And in his saying about health being the first consideration may be found a hint that he believed the truly healthy man to be a happy one, without regard to his or Schopenhauer's view points on the other questions about which there is doubt in the mind of man.

About the value of health there can be no doubt. Every one knows that well being cannot be attained in any respect without the proper functioning of the body and all its organs. In their proper co-operation and in the perfect condition of each is found the state which we call health.

Why, then—

Since this is known to every one, do
men and women sacrifice their health for temporary advantages of other sorts? The pursuit of wealth or fame or pleasure, beyond the capacity of the body to sustain it, wears and breaks down the body and imperils health.

Yet we persist in it.

Woman's World

A Titled Beauty Who Also Is Interested in Charities and the War.

THE COUNTESS OF WARWICK.

The Countess of Warwick, famous though she is for her beauty, has achieved quite as much distinction on account of her various and well directed charities, upon which subject she is as reticent as she is liberal. Two of the objects upon which her philanthropic energies are expended have assumed such proportions as to be beyond the power of concealment. These are the Easton School of Needlework and the Essex Needlework guild, both excellent organizations to aid the poor of England. The countess recently caused much talk by her criticisms of the social "butterflies" who make a pretense of nursing wounded soldiers—
in reality posing and hindering the war work.

The countess is an optimist, as witness what she said in an interview
not so very long ago.

"The best time of life is always after the age of thirty. Better than that is after forty. The very best time of life is fifty-three, which is my age. I just now am having the best time I ever had. At eighteen I was a pessimist. Now I know better. And because of what I've learned—by putting my experiences, my knowledge, to the best uses—I, like all women of my age, know better how to enjoy the days
that are given to me."

This is what she thinks about the ballet for women: "The ballet in itself means nothing. What prompts the fight for the ballet in England and America is a fight for sex independence, a fight women are making and which eventually they will win because woman, given economic independence plus the ballet, will then be able to stand on her own feet."

The responsibility of the United

she voices thus:

"It seems to me that the greatest rea grave responsibility. It has thriven on a gigantic scale without patronage

or privileged classes, without titles,
without such honors as are merely honors in name. Freed by the Atlantic

its eternal youth, its boundless energy,
its untrammeled progress."

So Crisp

---and Delicious, too!

There are definite reasons
why the New Post Toasties
are vastly superior in crispness and flavour to any other corn flakes.

In the new process of baking, intense heat raises tiny air "puffs" on each flake, bringing out a decidedly new and delicious flavour—the true flavour of the corn—unknown to the corn flakes of the past.

Owing to this new process the New Toasties maintain their crispness until eaten and do not grow soft and mushy in the bowl like other corn flakes.

The flavour is so delightfully pleasat that the New Post Toasties may be eaten and relished dry, though of course they are generally served with cream, rich milk, or fruit with a sprinkling of sugar.

Thirteen saloons will be closed at International Falls under the county option law, the vote having been dry in that county by 13 majority, one for each saloon put out of business.

The prediction is made that Sam Iverson will be the first in the field with his announcement for the republican nomination for governor. There is one thing in Iverson's favor, he will not need an introduction to the people of Minnesota.

Don't rave about the warm weather, hot weather if you please, for it is the salvation of the bumper crop the northwest is boasting about. And it means coin of the realm for many a poor fellow who is looking for work—to say nothing of the millions of dollars it means to the farmers.

A reduction in the freight rates on anthracite coal has been ordered by the interstate commerce commission, and the railroads have been ordered to publish their rates so that shippers may be all treated alike. Concessions granted other companies have made it hard sledding for the independents, which is sought to be done away with in the future.

A Virginia editor, according to the Virginian, threatened to publish the name of a certain young man who was seen kissing a girl in the park unless his subscription to the paper was paid up in a week. Fifty-nine young men called and paid up the next day, while two even paid a year in advance. That method is all right where your delinquent subscribers are young men, but how are you going to get the old fellows to square up.

The agitation has started to go south with the Northern Minnesota Editorial association next year, and the Mankato Free Press says if the "boys" will come to Southern Minnesota they will be shown the garden spot of the universe. Just as long as they keep that spot in Minnesota it doesn't make much difference whether it is north or south. But then, Welles, or some other disgruntled publisher will say the "politicians" made the trip possible.

James A. Peterson is to be in the political limelight at the coming state election if the twin city papers are correctly informed. The information is given out from this source that Sen. Ed. Smith and his friends will back Peterson for the republican nomination for governor, and that Peterson and his friends will line up for ex-Gov. Eberhart for United States senator. There will be a tendency to get-together at the coming election if there is any desire to win at the polls.

That part of the country which gives good roads to public for use in traversing from one end of the state to the other is the part which gets good advertising. For instance, the Akeley Herald in reciting the visit to that city of automobilists from the southern part of the state says:

"The trip was made via the Brainerd trail and the roads were reported fairly good, except out of Backus. This is the shortest route to the cities by 35 miles, but the tourists generally complain of the roads which will be avoided if not fixed up. The Akeley-Brainerd-Minneapolis trail is without doubt one of the prettiest in the state from a scenic standpoint and good roads will mean rapid development of the country tributary."

The St. Paul Times suggests that Dar Reese would be available timber to oppose Van Dyke for congress from that district next year. The Times does not exactly bring Mr. Reese out as a candidate but says "he has been mentioned as a congressional possibility," and adds that "Mr. Reese would make a live congressman and ably represent the district; he is a fearless fighter and a prince of good fellows; he has shown in the past his loyalty to the policies and principles of the republican party, and is one of its very ablest exponents. For this reason he is cordially liked by his friends. He has some political enemies who as cordially dislike him politically, but even they respect 'Dar.' If he gets into the game there will be something doing every minute."

AUDITOR PREUS' STATEMENT

Passes on the Request of Mayor Victor L. Power in the Hibbing Tax Discussion

"I find that in no instance will the removal of ore from Hibbing mines result in that any taxes will be uncollectable," says State Auditor Preus summing up the situation in a letter to Mayor Power in the Hibbing tax controversy.

A copy of the communication in full addressed to the Hibbing executive follows:

The Office of the Auditor of State
St. Paul, Minnesota,
August 16th, 1915.

Hon. Victor L. Power, Mayor,
Hibbing, Minnesota.
My Dear Mr. Power:—

On August 7th you wired me, asking that I see the County Attorney of St. Louis county and proceed under Sections 2184, 2185 and 2186, General Statutes 1913.

Permit me to state that the same has had my earnest attention ever since I received it.

After due consideration and consultation with the Attorney General, I have reached the conclusion that the purpose of the statutes referred to is to prevent the removal of any structures, timber of mineral from mines upon which a lien for taxes has attached, the result of which removal might be that the taxes cannot thereafter be collected.

This is the only purpose for which it has been invoked since it was passed by the legislature.

I find that in no instance will the removal of ore from Hibbing mines result in that any taxes will be uncollectable.

I must decline to take the action requested.

Yours truly,
J. A. O. PREUS,
State Auditor.

AMERICAN DOLLAR BECOMES SUPREME

European Exchange Reaches Lowest Mark in History.

New York, Aug. 17.—The American dollar rules the financial world with an iron grip. Pounds sterling, francs, lire, virtually all foreign exchange, went down to new depths in a torrent of bills that poured into the exchange markets from American manufacturers seeking pay for the big war contracts of munitions and other supplies purchased here by the warring nations of Europe.

Coincident with the startling decline in exchange rates came the assertion from an unimpeachable source that every contract made by the American manufacturers for supplies sent abroad called for payment in American dollars and not English pounds sterling, which heretofore have been the standard of finance the world over. The immense losses, therefore, due to the decline in foreign exchange rates, will be borne to the last penny by the foreign buyers and will not be sustained by the American manufacturers—a situation exactly the opposite of what had heretofore been the popular belief.

Watches Are Sympathetic.

Superstition or not, I am half sure the watch is alive and knows its owner; that it has some sort of sympathy with the person who carries it. Do you not know the bitterness of sending your own watch to hospital and harboring another—a patient—in your pocket? It lies—always. The scientific man reduces the whole matter to rhythmic motion. To put it roughly, the watch likes—or does not like—your particular skip, jump, stomp or decent walk. Really the scientist has nothing much more to say about it as a conclusion, but that rhythmic motion. The touch of the watch on the heart.—London Chronicle.

COMFORT FOR SOLDIERS.

All Branches of Our Army Are to Use Cavalry Tents.

Because of the additional comfort which will be afforded the soldiers the war department has decided to equip all branches of the United States army with cavalry tents. The decision was reached recently after a personal inspection by the secretary of war of twenty different types of shelter tents which were set up in one of the Washington parks and thoroughly tested. While this tent is two pounds heavier than the one heretofore used by the infantry, it is so much larger and more comfortable than the old one that it is considered preferable.

Either two sabers or two rifles may be substituted for the ordinary collapsible poles in setting up one of these tents. This is considered a distinct advantage, for it makes it possible to cut down the weight of the haversack load on long marches.

Considerable complaint has been made in the past regarding the small size of the infantry tent. The cavalry tent, however, is sixty-five inches in length on the ridge, sixty-one inches wide at the base, and when supported on the collapsible poles stands about forty-three inches from the ground at the ridge. The canvas, which is of an olive drab color, is divided into two sections, which button together at the ridge and along the slanting end. A wide flap covers the buttons and prevents leakage. Each half has a row of buttons and buttonholes, so that any two sections can be used together. The collapsible poles are made in three sections. When the tent is not in use one of these poles and four pins are wrapped in each half of the canvas and become a part of the pack equipment of the individual soldier.—Popular Mechanics.

Making Coin Blanks.

To provide ingots for making one cent and five cent pieces, which are being coined in larger quantities every year, a new casting machine that turns out ingots weighing more than five times as much as those heretofore used has been placed in service in the United States mint at Philadelphia. In connection with this machine larger rolls for forming the plates from which the coin "blanks" are cut are also being used, the whole purpose of the improved equipment being to turn out more coins in a day. How important this is is shown in the fact that each year there is now a demand for approximately 100,000,000 cent pieces and 60,000,000 five cent pieces, or nickels.—Popular Mechanics.

PEACE TALK MAY BRING RESULTS

Rumors From Europe Indicate Desire to End the War.

FACING FINANCIAL STRAIN.

Some of the Governments Have Difficulty in Raising Money to Continue the Struggle—Administration—Sure New Mexican Plan Will Be Successful and the Strife There Ended.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington, Aug. 17.—[Special.]—The wave of peace talk being wafted about the country may have something behind it, not tangible, but the fore-runner of a settlement of the great war in Europe and the devastation in Mexico. And again it may be only the great desire for peace which pervades this nation that causes our people to eagerly respond to anything of the kind.

Official Washington knows little about the possibilities of peace, though confidential communications from ambassadors have indicated a desire on the part of people for an early peace; also that foreign governments are having some difficulties in financing the expensive war.

Hopeful For Mexico.

As to Mexico, our government has always been full of hope. None of our officials have ever doubted that peace would be established in Mexico. They have had absolute confidence in the policies they have been pursuing. They have had confidence in different leaders in Mexico and have watched for the success of Carranza in the belief that he would restore order when he gained full power.

Under the new plan there is little doubt of success in the eyes of those who have been striving to establish peace without intervention by the United States. It is believed that the Mexicans can now be brought to see that they must stop fighting, establish a stable government or they will lose the respect of this government.

Borah a Real Candidate.

When Senator Borah of Idaho left Washington there was some doubt as to whether he was really stung by the presidential bee. A recent interview which he put forth indicates that the bee got in its work or at least that Borah intends to keep in the limelight enough to let people know that he is willing if the nomination should go his way. Borah wants national defense. He indulged in the popular pastime of jumping on Bryan's peace plans and quoted old Democratic Andrew Jackson as wanting preparation for war and of expressing the belief that war was sometimes unavoidable. He went further and quoted Jackson as wanting a big navy.

A Doubtful Story.

President Wilson has been doing a great many things at his summer home, but it is best to doubt the story that he has been considering among other things urging a protective tariff. The reason for such a tariff is that there may be a great influx of goods from Europe when the war ends. Well, the idea of reducing the tariff was in order to allow goods to come from foreign lands cheaper and thus reduce the cost of living in this country. It is doubtful if the President is thinking of taking a back track on his program established when he became president.

Looking Forward.

Cities ambitious to have national conventions are not forgetting that there will be a presidential campaign next year. Chicago has the Republican convention clinched and St. Louis is putting forward efforts to hold the Democratic gathering. It is more than probable that St. Louis will win.

When Irish Meets Irish.

We hear of people "getting their Irish up" and that seems to be what happened when Joe Tumulty slapped back at Congressman Buchanan of Illinois. Buchanan is perhaps more of a laborer than Irishman, but this was a case of when Irish meets Irish. Tumulty showed that he was not going to "take anything off" Buchanan when the latter wrote a letter reflecting on the president and his attitude toward labor. Buchanan is something of a fighter. He demonstrated in the last congress that he was subservient to no party and was just as ready to fight the Democratic leaders as the Republicans, although he was elected and listed as a Democrat.

Must Turn to the United States.

If peace should come to Europe the concerns which have been making vast sums out of the manufacture of ammunition must turn to the United States for a market. It is quite probable that renewed efforts will then be made to increase the war supplies, particularly in the matter of munitions for war to come.

Ships and Crops.

The immense crops which this country will produce this year will cause a renewed demand for ships in which to transport them to foreign markets. But then there is another trouble—Great Britain does not let such ships as sail the ocean carry crops to neutral nations if by any chance they may reach Germany. Even if we had more ships the crops might fail to reach a market, save such markets as England permits this country to enjoy.

the Power behind the dough

YOU MAY use an old favorite recipe and the best of materials and make it carefully, the oven may be just right, yet you will have a failure if "The Power behind the Dough" is not the right one to leaven it properly and make it light, digestible, wholesome.

Good baking without good baking powder is out of the question. K C Baking Powder has wonderful leavening power, and the double action—in the bowl and in the oven—makes good results doubly certain.

Wireless Telephony.

When entirely perfected it is now seen that wireless telephony will be more perfected than the wire system, as the voice is carried much more clearly, and if desired the sound can be enlarged so that a whisper on the part of the sender will be received as a shout. With wireless telephony it will be impossible for a person successfully to disguise his voice, as every tone, syllable and shade of emphasis is carried with remarkable accuracy.

Well Censored.

Shortly after the war began a woman in England received a letter addressed to her by her husband. She opened the envelope, which had already been opened once by the censor, and instead of the expected letter she found a slip of paper bearing these words: "Your husband is well, but too communicative."

The Cod Catch.

The cod is not exactly an aristocrat among fishes, but numerically and commercially he can hold his head up with the best of them. During 1914 the waters of the north Atlantic coast, from Georges Bank to Labrador, yielded 161,792,000 pounds of cod, and 1914 was by no means an unusual year.

Parrots as Sentinels.

The French are reported to have stationed parrots on the Eiffel tower to give warning against the approach of aeroplanes. The birds bristle and screech when the machines approach long before they are detected by human lookouts.

Swallowed the Bait.

Her Safety Not His Business.

"This safety movement is a great thing, but what good does it do to try to be a missionary to some of these women?" commented a citizen on a High street car. His pessimistic view was the result of a rebuff he had just received from an elderly woman, who, alighting from the car in the usual feminine way, with her face to the rear of the car, was informed by the "missionary" that she should have faced the other way in order to avoid an accident.

"I'm attending to my business. You attend to your own," retorted the woman. "Thanks for 'safety first,'" said the man sadly.—Columbus Dispatch.

TAKE SALTS TO FLUSH KIDNEYS

Eat less meat if you feel Backache or Bladder troubles you—Salts is fine for Kidneys.

Meat forms uric acid which excites and overworks the kidneys in their efforts to filter it from the system. Regular eaters of meat must flush the kidneys occasionally. You must relieve them like you relieve your bowels; removing all the acids, waste and poison, else you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sour, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment; the channels often get irritated, obliging you to get up two or three times during the night. To neutralize these irritating acids and flush off the body's urinous waste get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine and bladder disorders disappear. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys and stop bladder irritation. Jad Salts is invulnerable, harmless and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then, thus avoiding serious kidney and bladder diseases.

WHEELAGE TAX TO BE ENFORCED

New Ordinance on Electric Wiring Proposed—City Attorney to Investigate South Side Alley

All members of the council were present Monday evening, except President Farrar and Alderman Koop. Mr. Koop arriving later in the evening.

Alderman Benson, of the street committee, asked for further time to report on the improving of the walks along Ash street to Lum Park, which was granted.

In the matter of the 13th street paving improvement, Chairman Benson, of the street committee reported he had appeared before the county board and that the same agreed to transfer the sum of $3500 from the county road and bridge fund to the city of Brainerd in exchange for a like transfer on the part of the city of Brainerd from its road improvement fund in the sum of $3138.90 to be used and expended by the county on roads outside but leading into Brainerd.

In the matter of moving five telephone poles from Pine street northeast, Aldermen Haake and Betzold moved to refer the matter to the street committee for a report which motion carried.

The pole line on GHills avenue northeast is to be removed, the city engineer and street committee supervising.

Chairman Peterson, of the police committee, reported on licensing the Chautauqua entertainment. The chief of police was instructed to collect the license fee of $55.

The license for the Hagenbeck-Wallace circus, according to the ordinance, was interpreted to read that the city collect $100 for the main tent show and $10 for each additional tent or side show.

The city clerk was instructed to issue no license to the circus until they put up a certified check or cash of $1000 to secure the city against damage to the streets by the parade and that the street committee, city engineer and city attorney carry out the meaning of the motion in case any damage be done to the streets.

In the matter of sewers in Sewer District No. 3 in Southeast Brainerd, the city attorney was authorized to offer H. Guyett $25 for a right of way for such sewer over his land.

The chief of police reported the Chautauqua management had refused to pay the license fee.

The city clerk's report of receipts of $2266.41 and disbursements aggregating $2611.52 was read, accepted and ordered filed.

The bill of the chief of police for automobile trips in the amount of $20.16 was again referred to the finance committee.

Bills of R. J. Hartley $65.82, E. C. Cole $21.62, J. R. Smith $15, S. J. Greer $3.59 were allowed.

The surety bonds of the three sinking fund commissioners each for $2,000, were approved.

Ordinance No. 276, relating to water closets, was due to receive its second reading and on motion, the ordinance was indefinitely tabled.

Alderman Turcotte brought up the wheelage tax, the city attorney, D. A. Haggard, asserting it was unconstitutional and advised against prosecutions for collecting. However some of the greatest constitutional lawyers in Brainerd have paid that tax without a murmur.

The report of the city engineer on the estimates of the Fifth and Sixth street sewers was read and accepted and the clerk directed to advertise for bids for the construction of the same, the city attorney to prepare contracts.

Aldermen Morrison and Anderson moved to instruct the city attorney to enforce the wheelage tax ordinance.

An ordinance providing for the inspection of all electric installation and wiring, and electric light fixtures by the water and light board and to prohibit the water and light board from doing wiring for private persons and repealing all ordinances inconsistent therewith was presented and read. The clerk was directed to obtain advice from the water and light board as to its views on the same.

The petition for a street lamp on South Tenth and Crow Wing avenue was read and referred to the electric light committee.

A petition for a small culvert at the intersection of Crow Wing avenue and Lake street was referred to the street committee. The petition for an arc light on Nineteenth street, two blocks south of Oak, was also referred to the electric light committee.

The city attorney was directed to draw up an easement deed from property owners in block 217 for an alley through said block. The city attorney was also directed to look into the status of an alley between Pine and Quince at Seventh and Eighth streets

Aldermen Morrison and Haake moved to turn over to the county board the amount of $3,138.90 now in the road improvement fund to the county in return for the county's appropriating $3,500 from the county road and bridge fund to the city, which carried.

Aldermen Benson and Morrison moved to pave Thirteenth street from Oak street south to the springs and direct the city engineer to prepare plans and specifications by next Friday evening, August 20, to which time the council adjourned.

CHAUTAUQUA TO PAY A LICENSE

City Council at Monday Evening Session Asks Chief of Police to Collect $55 License

GUARANTORS ARE SO HELD

Chautauqua People Refuse to Pay and Say Brainerd is First in 400 Towns to Make Demand

The thrifty city council, in session last night, all members present except President Farrar and Alderman Smith, voted that the Chautauqua was to be assessed a license of $55 for holding its performances and sent Chief of Police Henry Squires down to the show to collect the money.

The manager refused to pay. In an interview given the Dispatch the assertion was made by the Chautauqua people that Brainerd was the first of 400 towns covered in their travels and on the circuit which had demanded a license. The Chautauqua gives performances in (North and South Dakota, Montana, Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri and Arkansas. The Chautauqua makes towns with populations from 400 to 50,000.

"Here's a point for Brainerd to remember. Lyceums and Chautauquas are so highly regarded that no war tax was levied against them. Other entertainments paid a war tax."

"Besides that, our agreement with the guarantors does not provide that the Chautauqua shall pay a license," said the manager and he showed the original contract signed by last year's guarantors and the paragraph in question is reproduced:

"That said first party (The Vawter Chautauqua System) agrees to furnish complete programs, equipment, tickets and advertising for said Chautauqua, and everything generally used in connection with the carrying on of such Chautauqua, EXCEPT GROUNDS, LICENSE, IF ANY BE REQUIRED, AND THE SERVICES OF ONE POLICEMAN THEREFOR", throughout the Chautauqua, which excepted items said party or parties of second part, (the guarantors) agree to furnish at their own expense. The Chautauqua grounds to be suitably located and in condition for use."

This agreement was made October 21, 1914, ten full programs to be given extending over not less than five days.

The guarantors for this season's Chautauqua guaranteed $700 and covered that amount by the sale of tickets. The license, if collected, is an additional expense.

The guarantors are G. S. Swanson, Erick Kronberg, W. W. Banc, E. E. Satterlee, R. M. Sheets, F. A. Farrar, R. B. Withington, W. A. M. Johnson, E. D. Whitney, C. E. Hansing, Fred Luken, H. F. ASSAILS MAIL ORDER HOUSES

C. H. Plattenberg Chautauqua Speaker, Talks on Subject of "Community Interest"

PLEADS FOR HOME MERCHANT

Catalog Houses Do Not Donate a Cent to Support of Brainerd Schools, Roads or Churches

C. H. Plattenberg was the chief speaker at the closing day of the Chautauqua entertainment. His subject was "Community Interest." He pleaded for loyalty to the home town and traced the relationship between the rural district and town. Brainerd should be as large as its trading territory said the speaker. A man living five miles distant should be as much interested in the community life as the man on the main street of Brainerd.

No town should depend on one industry, said the speaker. One should be loyal enough to give his home merchants the first chance at business. Take into consideration the cost of articles, the expense of getting them here and the quality when comparing them with catalog prices and take the list to your home merchant and see if he can duplicate it. Give the home merchants the first opportunity.

"How much do the mail order houses give to the support of your local schools, roads and churches?" asked Mr. Plattenberg. "Not one cent. They are destroying your whole city and you who patronize the mail order houses are building up Chicago millionaires."

"If cheapness is all you want, tear down the tariff walls, admit the Hindus, Chinamen and others. Let the foreign countries dump their cheap manufactures into America. Do away with child labor laws. Let the children work and you can buy still cheaper."

Fully half the towns in North Dakota visited were found to be either stationary or falling back. Mail order business is cutting into the rich state of Iowa.

Every town is a moral, religious and political center. If your interest in your community languishes, said the speaker, your town decreases in importance. People make a town and people increase land values. Every man in a community owes it a debt.

Earning your money in town, living in town, enjoying its privileges, it's a small return for these benefits to send every cent out of town, said Mr. Plattenberg in conclusion.

The Boucher Grand Opera company was heard in selections from standard operas and their rendition of those masterpieces was especially pleasing.

JUST STOCKINGS

Filled or Unfilled, They Play a Part in History and Billy Clifford's Show

For so slimy a thing the stocking plays a large part in the world's affairs. When empty it has come to stand as the emblem of poverty, and yet when filled it is the cause of as much trouble as the charms of Helen of Troy, or as any other famous beauty in Love's tragic register. There are few magnets so powerful in their pull on the masculine eye as a stocking in its proper place, few things that bring such constant relief to the legendary tired business man as a whirl of stockings covering the legs of nimble, graceful and shapely performers, which appear with Billy Clifford at the opera house on Wednesday evening, August 18. Silk stockings have broken up homes.

To wear stockings is so general a custom that to omit this article of attire is to win permanent fame, as in the case of Jerry Simpson. And yet the wearing of them and the omission of the practice, in recent instances, set all the world of two of our best known watering places agog. Last season, while Mr. Clifford was playing Newport, a lady in search of the haughty sensation-making appeared at the Casino wearing a white stocking and a black one, with shoes of the same hues to match. Newport dropped all its intellectual discussions and gave itself over to argument as to whether it should take up a fad which seems to have been copied from the color scheme of the Winter Garden. "Society" seems to have committed the common theatrical sin of "stealing our stuff."

Another case of stockings was at Atlantic City where the edicts have gone forth that hereafter all femininity that goes bathing must wear these essentials to the complete costume. If Atlantic City nymphs, in following this rule, should take up the Newport custom, it will be difficult for some men

Washington, Aug. 17.—Legislation to authorize a substantial increase in the enlisted personnel of the navy to man the rapidly increasing number of ships will be suggested by Secretary Daniels when he goes to the White House this week to submit the special report on needs of the navy asked for by President Wilson.

A large building program will be recommended next winter and since March, 1913, there has been a net increase of fifty in the number of naval vessels in full commission. In the same time the number of men has increased 5,114, bringing the total virtually up to the limit fixed by law.

Margaret Wycherly in the character of Jane Thomas has a wonderful acting part. "The Fight" is a full and varied offering, narrative as well as dramatic; sympathy is with Jane Thomas all through in her heavy handicap. And it is quite deficient in any episodes of an objectionable character; again, the incidents are feasible, so feasible, that you can look upon the photo play as, on the whole, true to life

NATIONAL CORN SHOW

Northwestern Farmers to Exhibit Corn at the Big Show at St. Paul Dec. 31

Farmers from the states of Minnesota, North and South Dakota, Montana, Washington, Oregon and Idaho will compete for the $5000 in prizes offered as premiums for the best exhibits shown at the First National Corn Show, to be held in St. Paul, December 1st to 31st under the auspices of the First National bank and Northwestern Trust Company of St. Paul and bankers of the Northwest. Every effort has been made to give participants an equitable opportunity to compete for the prizes offered. There will be no competition as between states, and they have been divided into districts in such a manner that farmers may compete with associates who have no advantage over them in the way of better soil, climatic conditions, etc. The geographical divisions for the six districts in Minnesota are as follows:

District No. 1—Counties of Kittson, Roseau, Marshall, Polk, Pennington, Red Lake, Norman, Mahanomen, Clearwater, Beltrami, Hubbard and Cass.

District No. 2—Counties of Koochiching, St. Louis, Lake, Itasca, Aitkin, Carlton, Pine, Kanabec, Mille Lacs and Cook.

District No. 3—Counties of Clay, Becker, Wilkin, Ottertail, Grant, Douglas, Wadena, Todd, Morrison and Crow Wing.

District No. 4—Counties of Traverse, Bigstone, Swift, Stevens, Pope, Stearns, Meeker, Kandiyohi, Chippewa, Lac qui Parle, Yellow Medicine, Renville, Lincoln, Lyon, Redwood and Brown.

Lisbon, Aug. 16.—Hope has been abandoned of salvaging the Portuguese cruiser Republica, which ran aground near Peniche, south of Lisbon, while on her way to Oporto, according to a Lisbon dispatch to the Petit Journal.

The cruiser Republica, formerly the Rainha Dona Amalia, was launched at Lisbon in 1899. Its displacement was 1,635 tons, length 246 feet and beam 38 feet. The crew numbered 250 men.

LADIES' BAND AT THE STATE FAIR

Organization of 30 Pieces, Known Everywhere as One of Best Bands of Kind, to Appear at Minnesota State Fair, Sept. 6 to 11—Six Other Bands and Five Orchestras Also Booked.

LADIES' band, the famous organization of thirty pieces from Watertown, Minn., will furnish music at the Minnesota State Fair, September 6 to 11, during the entire week. Every person in the band, with the exception of the director, is a woman. In addition to this noted band there are six other bands and five orchestras. Fully 250 persons are employed in these organizations to supply State Fair patrons with music. A band or orchestra is located at nearly every vantage point on the grounds. The feature band will be the Minneapolis Municipal Band, said to be one of the highest priced bands in the world.

300 IN CONTEST

Extraordinary Entry in Pig Club Contest This Summer.

Over 300 boys and girls competing in the pig club contest conducted by the Minnesota Agricultural College are striving hard for a chance to show their pig at the Minnesota State Fair, September 6 to 11. The prize pig from each county is eligible to competition. The Fair is to pay the transportation charges on the pig to and from the Fair Grounds, and feed the pig and care for it during the week. As sixty counties have organized to carry on the contest, it is probable that nearly that number of pigs will be shown. Prizes amounting to $200 will be awarded, and the champion pig will receive a special prize of $50, in addition to a first prize in its class.

The State contest is to close September 1, in order to enable the winners in each county to compete at the Fair. Not only must the contestant raise a pig in the four months preceding September 1, but also an eighth of an acre of some forage crop to feed it. In this way it is believed that the value of cheap forage in the production of pork will be emphasized.

If the champion pig is a Duroc-Jersey animal an extra prize of $100 in gold will be given by the National Duroc-Jersey Record Association. If it is a Large Yorkshire the winner will receive a pure-bred hog of that breed from Thomas Canfield, of Lake Park. The pig club exhibit is certain to prove one of the features of the Fair.

MANY HOGS COMING.

Exceptional Entry of Swine Predicted by State Fair Officials.

The swine show at the Minnesota State Fair, September 6 to 11, promises to be one of the largest in the entire country this year. There never was a time when conditions were more promising, despite the fact that every succeeding year at Hamilton has been a record breaking one for hogs.

There have been twenty-three nominations for the Poland-China Futurity. The prizes for this are $600, of which $150 is contributed by the fair and $450 given by the American Poland-China Record association. Only animals from Minnesota can be shown. The classes are for fall and spring pigs, sows and boars. In the spring class there is a lot for litters of four. Wherever these futurities have been offered they have succeeded wonderfully in stimulating interest in swine breeding, and Minnesota is very fortunate to be able to hold one.

There are indications, according to William F. Hagerman, Superintendent of Swine, that the swine show will serve as a market this fall to a greater extent than ever before. It is an excellent place to look over the best herds of swine in all the country, talk with the owners, and gain information regarding blood lines and breeds. Some of the best herds in the country are located in Minnesota.

LARGE HEREFORD PREMIUMS.

Excellent Chance for Big Winning at Minnesota State Fair.

Owners of Hereford cattle in Minnesota will be able to compete for prizes aggregating $1,616 at the Minnesota State Fair, September 6 to 11. The "White Faces," as they are often called, are so well adapted to a range or cut-over country that they are becoming quite popular in this state. The American Hereford Cattle club offers $500 in prizes. Entries close August 12.

GIRLS TO STRIVE FOR HIGH HONORS

Championship Contest Conducted at Minnesota State Fair to Determine Best Baker.

Girl bakers from all over Minnesota will attend the State Fair, September 6 to 11, to compete for the breadmaking championship of the State. A very large attendance is expected by those in charge, and there will be few counties unrepresented.

The girls are to compete throughout the week, and their work will be judged by the best specialists available. Valuable prizes will be awarded to the winners at the close of the week. In addition the Fair will pay one-half of the railroad expenses of each contestant. Girls will be quartered in the dormitories at the Minnesota Agricultural College during the week under the care of Mrs. Margaret Baker, Assistant State Leader of Boys' and Girls' Contest Work in Minnesota.

To Tour Grounds.

When not at work in the bread-making contest special tours will be taken about the Fair Grounds under the supervision of competent guides, who will explain the educational exhibits to them. Every effort will be made to entertain the girls in a proper way, and the best of care will be taken of them.

A canning demonstration, in which the girls taking part in the bread-making contest will compete for prizes, will be conducted throughout the week, to explain to Fair visitors the "cold-pack" method recommended for home use in the Northwest. All the principal types of canners will be used in the contest. In this way it is believed that a step will be taken to check the enormous waste of fruit and vegetables during seasons of plenty and encourage their conservation by canning.

TERRIFYING SPECTACLE.

European Warfare Methods Vividly Portrayed at State Fair.

The Northwest will never have a better opportunity to become informed regarding the fighting methods and fighting machines of modern European armies than at the Minnesota State Fair, September 6 to 11, where "The War of the Nations" is to be fought each night. This fireworks drama by the Theatre-Pain company is the most elaborate and vivid war spectacle ever presented in the United States.

In thrilling effects nothing was ever attempted in pyrotechnics that compares with it. It is presented on a mammoth stage 450 feet wide. Three hundred people are required in the cast. The drama depicts the destruction of a town in the western fighting area of Europe before the attack of an enveloping army. The coming of the enemy is heralded by an aeroplane that scouts up over the horizon. An aeroplane gun shells the stranger and puts it to flight. A little later, a flock of aeroplanes and dirigibles swarms into view and opens a fire of bombs upon the town. The long columns of the enemy at the same time rush to the assault. There is savage fighting in front of the trenches. Great cannons roar. Machine guns play streams of fire upon the hostile ranks. Shells burst incessantly. The town catches fire. The Gothic cathedral falls in ruins. Public edifices and homes go up in flames. Soon the once prosperous town is a tumbled mass of wreckage in a blackened waste.

In an interlude before the battle, a dozen acts of high-class vaudeville are interpolated. After the fighting, two beautiful tableaux are staged. One typifies "The Horrors of War"; the other, "The Blessings of Peace." The performance closes with an exhibition of dazzling fireworks.

CUP FOR BEST HOGS.

Beautiful Trophy Offered for Finest Herd of Berkshires at Fair.

A beautiful silver trophy is to be given at the Minnesota State Fair, September 6 to 11, to the Minnesota exhibitor of the best herd of Berkshire hogs, consisting of one boar and three sows. The American Berkshire association offers the cup. Animals farrowed after September 1, 1914, are eligible to compete. Considerable rivalry for this honor is predicted.

COTTON SOON TO BE CONTRABAND

Allies Busy Arranging for Uniform Treatment.

COURSE IS DECIDED UPON

Great Britain, France, Russia, Italy and Belgium Agree to Take Steps for the Purpose of Preventing Cotton Reaching the Teutonic Powers.

Washington, Aug. 17.—The allies' intention to declare cotton contraband has been communicated unofficially, but authoritatively, to the state department. The department's advisers are that the decision has been reached and the delay in making an announcement is due to the necessity of arranging uniform treatment of the subject by all the allies.

The step has been agreed upon by Great Britain, France, Russia, Italy and Belgium, but Japan's attitude has not been defined and she may decide that no action is called for from her at this time, because of the elimination of the only German colony in the Far East from the military problem and the absence of any reason for a blockade.

The allies contend that American cotton shippers in many cases, alleged to be backed by German capital, have been shipping cotton to Germany through neutral ports. Under the orders in council such a cargo if captured was merely taken into a British port and paid for by the British government.

The allies contend that under those conditions, a great deal of the cotton got through Sweden, Denmark and Holland into Germany. From the allies' point of view, the orders in council were ineffective, because they obliged the British government to buy cotton and at the same time offered an incentive to blockade runners.

According to the advice reaching Washington the pressure in England and France has compelled a change. The British government originally regarded cotton as noncontraband and expressed a desire to avoid inflicting hardship upon the South planters and to avoid development of an anti-British feeling in this country. The change to contraband will be defended as authorized by international law.

It is expected that some sort of an arrangement will be proposed by which the allies will engage to allow cotton to travel unmolested to neutral countries in quantities in proportion to their normal consumption.

ONLY TWO NEGATIVE VOTES

German National Liberals Favor Territorial Expansion.

Berlin, Aug. 17.—Resolutions calling for the extension of German frontiers as the result of the war were adopted by the executive committee of the National Liberal party, which met at the reichstag. The resolutions made the following declaration: "The outcome of the present war can only be a peace which, by expanding our frontiers east, west and overseas, will protect us militarily, politically and economically against new attacks and compensate us for the enormous sacrifices which the German nation already has made and is determined to continue until a victorious conclusion."

Complete confidence in Ernest Basserman, leader of the National Liberal party, was expressed in the resolutions, which announced that the party would stand solidly back of any government pursuing with unbending firmness the aims outlined in the resolutions, which were adopted with only two dissenting votes.

SERVIANS ARE UNCONCERNED

Do Not Fear An Austrian Attack at Present Time.

Rome, Aug. 17.—Telegrams from Nish give the impression that the Servian government does not look for a serious movement against that country by Austria and Germany in the near future.

These advices say Servian officials consider the reported concentration of Austrians and Germans at Orsova, Hungary, as being merely for political effect.

By this move, according to the Servian view, the Teutonic allies hope to impress Roumania, Bulgaria and Greece and encourage Turkey to redoubled efforts at the Dardanelles.

ARTICLE MAY BE INSPIRED

Italian Paper Has Long Dispatch From Petrograd.

Milan, Italy, Aug. 17.—A long dispatch from Petrograd outlining the situation in Russia, which gives the impression of being inspired by Sergius Sazanoff, Russian foreign minister, is published by the Corriere della Sera. The article says in conclusion: "The proposal for a Russia-Japanese alliance finds no opposition on condition that it be not aggressive against China and even less so against America, whose friendship is necessary to Russia."

FOREIGN POLICY THE VITAL ISSUE

Democrats Stake Their Hopes on Wilson's Actions.

TARIFF IS NOT A FACTOR.

Underwood's Pet Measure Not Given a Fair Trial on Account of Conditions Arising Out of the European War. "Our Partisanship Stops at Water's Edge," Says Senator Lodge.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington, Aug. 16.—[Special.]—It is the belief of many political observers that the Republicans have been giving away good campaign material in their support of the administration's foreign policy. It is doubtful whether the Republicans can make the tariff a winning issue, for tariff conditions have been set away by the European war, and every statement about the tariff will be met with the reply that the war made it impossible to give the Underwood law a fair trial.

"Our partisanship stops at the water's edge," remarked Senator Lodge, who uses a figure of speech to convey his meaning. "Of course we have got to support the president in his foreign policy," remarked Ralph Cameron from Arizona while criticizing the Democratic policies in general.

Issues Next Year.

"President Wilson will stand or fall on his foreign policy," remarked Senator Lewis of Illinois, who is a better politician than either Lodge or Cameron. And it will be found that Lewis is right. The people will make the issues. Parties nor men cannot decide what shall be political issues. That which is uppermost in the public mind affecting the whole country will be the main issue in determining the result next year.

In all probability the foreign policy of the administration, which includes dealings with Mexico, Haiti and American governments, as well as handling the war in Europe, will be the main factor in deciding whether or not Woodrow Wilson will succeed himself.

Altruism and Governments.

Somehow altruism in dealing with governments does not seem to get results. Perhaps it is because governments are like people. Being conducted by people, that is likely to be the case. There are mighty few men who would hesitate a moment about getting away with others in a business deal. Altruism does not seem to have much place in business, and it is to be doubted whether it can make a success in dealing with governments.

The United States has tried the altruistic way for a long time. There must be a lot of humbug about it, too, for the probabilities are that down deep there is a desire to make something out of the scheme. However, little countries are suspicious of the kindly hand and honeyed words. And it is also observed that strong governments are smashing everything and everybody in order to strengthen themselves at the expense of other peoples. Altruism in government seems to have gone awry.

What They Will Ask.

When strong efforts are made to increase national defenses, which it is presumed will mean an increase in the army and navy, those who have heretofore opposed such increases successfully will ask what necessity exists for such strong armament now. "Who are we going to fight, and who is going to attack us?" will be asked. "Isn't it a mighty good thing that we did not have an army and navy strong enough to take a hand in the European war?" Oh, there are a lot more such questions, and it is quite possible Bryan will have quite a following in congress.

Roosevelt and Burned Bridges.

"Roosevelt is careful in his bridge burning," remarked one of the colonel's friends. "He never burns a bridge which he may want to use. He did not burn the bridge between himself and the Republican party. In fact, he is at this moment holding the torch to light his followers back over that bridge and which he may cross himself ere long. But if he does recross it he will have burned it behind him, for there will be no more Progressive party and no place for him to go. He is not going to destroy that bridge yet."

A Notable Election.

Little attention has been paid to a recent election in Virginia, but it was really a notable event. That state has elected a legislature which will enact laws to enforce the recently adopted prohibition amendment. It had been said all along that, although Virginia had voted dry, the legislature would not enact laws to make prohibition effective. On the contrary, a legislature elected on the issue has been chosen to put in effect the prohibition verdict of the people. It means much for the prohibition movement.

Tennessee Torn Up.

"We can't tell what will happen in Tennessee," remarked Congressman Sims, who has announced himself as a candidate against Luke Lea for the senate. "The state is torn up politically. In the coming fight I must win in the primaries and then have a fight for election. And in that election no one can tell what may happen, although we expect a Democratic victory."

Dr. Wheeler Predicts Adoption of Compulsory Military Service.

Berkeley, Cal., Aug. 17.—Military preparedness was advocated by Dr. Benjamin Ide Wheeler, president of the University of California, in his annual address to the student body. He appealed to the students to co-operate with the military authorities connected with the university and predicted the ultimate adoption by the United States of compulsory military training, similar to the plan followed in Switzerland.

SALVATION ARMY IS HEIR

Relatives to Contest Will of Descendant of Nobility.

Warren, Pa., Aug. 16.—The Salvation Army of America comes into possession of 640 acres of oil land, said to be worth $100,000, besides large estates in England, value unknown, through the death here of Henry Cobham, who for nearly fifty years has lived in a replica of the Cobham castle in England. Cobham was a monogamian and the last descendant in this country of an old English line of nobility. Relatives will contest the will.

WHEN sun and work are boiling the juice out of a fellow's hide, a satisfying chew beats a smoke.

Some reasons why you hear so much about the Real Tobacco Chew: the good tobacco taste is there, it lasts, less grinding, less spitting. One small chew takes the place of two big chews of the old kind.

A little chew of pure, rich, mellow tobacco—seasoned and sweetened just enough—cuts out so much of the grinding and spitting.

ASK YOUR DEALER FOR W-B CUT CHEWING TOBACCO. IT IS THE NEW "REAL TOBACCO CHEW"—CUT LONG SHRED.

Take less than one-quarter the old size chew. It will be more satisfying than a mouthful of ordinary tobacco. Just take a nibble of it until you find the strength chew that suits you, then see how easily and evenly the real tobacco taste comes, how it satisfies, how much less you have to spit, how few chews you take to be tobacco satisfied. That's why it is The Real Tobacco Chew. That's why it costs less in the end.

The taste of pure, rich tobacco does not need to be covered up. An excess of licorice and sweetening makes you spit too much.

One small chew takes the place of two big chews of the old kind.

(Notice how the salt brings out the rich tobacco taste.)
